From eight until nine o'clock an informal reception was tendered the team and its coaches and the management in the Essex house parlors. During the social hour musical pastimes were indulged in and much enjoyed by the gathering. The buck and wing exhibitions of Dennis E. McMahon were exceedingly well executed. At nine o'clock the gathering adjourned from the parlors to the dining hall, Mr. Horne being seated at the head of one table with the coaches of the team and the eleven on either hand. The guests of the occasion, numbering about sixty occupied the other seats. Everyone partook heartily of a bounteous and elaborate supper.

REMARKABLE CURE OF COUP.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Stone of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today. —Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. For sale by all druggists.

WILL DISBAND.

The old Essex Interscholastic Athletic association seems doomed to dissolution. The various schools of the league, Salem, Newburyport, Summer academy, Danvers, Haverhill and Lawrence, have caused the wreck of the league by their chronic failure to agree. The league is about to be reorganized without Salem and probably without one or two other teams now represented in the E. I. A. Lowell will undoubtedly be taken in. For the last year the Salem High school has been wholly engulfed in the suburban league. Every move that Salem has made recently in the E. I. A. league has been the result of more or less dispute. The result of the last season of football being now undecided owing to the unimportant action taken by that team, in forfeiting the deciding game of the series to Newburyport in order to tie that team with the local one.

The cause of Salem's demise on the athletic field, both on gridiron and on the diamond, is due to the graduation from her ranks of all the best athletes of the school, who for the past few years have given that team its prestige over the others. A league elected and prospered four years ago which included the teams of Sanborn seminary, Haverhill, Lowell and Lawrence, but this was broken up by Haverhill because of the bad brooding existing between the Lowell and Haverhill teams. This has now practically fallen out and it is now thought that a league including both teams will prosper there, being a friendly rivalry at present. A track team has been started this year at the Lowell High school which is represented by Harry Coburn and Maurice Perkins. Letters will be willingly admitted.

A meeting of representatives from the Lowell High, Haverhill High, Newburyport high and the local high school will be held in this city tomorrow at which time final action will be taken. The contemplated league if successfully organized tomorrow, will be known as the Merrimack Valley High School Athletic association. One or two other teams may be admitted later if it is deemed advisable. Salem, Danvers and Dummer academy are the teams proposed to be dropped out of the new organization which will undoubtedly have some contests on the track, diamond and gridiron.

Inauguration Day.

The new city government was no sooner sworn into office Monday than a deadlock session in the city hall officials in joint convention.

After Mayor Leonard had read his inaugural address the aldermen and councilmen began their work. The common council organized with placidity by the choice of Richard Koerner as president and Richard J. Shea as clerk. The election of Koerner was a surprise as the caucus favored Councilman Halstead.

It was in the board of aldermen that the deadlock began, the vote for president being a tie between Aldermen Lane and Alderman White. While receiving his own vote, those of Aldermen Lacaille and Parthum, the other Republicans voting for Lane, who was the caucus choice. Hundreds of ballots were taken with no choice and finally the common council adjourned until 2 o'clock, as there was no indication that the aldermen would or held.

The new city government was called to order in the common council chamber at 10.10 a. m., by Alderman Lane. The roll was then called by City Auditor R. J. Shea, all members responding to the names of the city fathers. The motion of Alderman Choate it was voted to notify Mayor Leonard that the council was ready to be sworn into office. His Honor was escorted to the council chamber by City Marshal O'Sullivan.

The city fathers then formed in line and marched to the upper hall where the inauguration exercises were held. The procession was headed by City Marshal O'Sullivan, Sergeant Keleher, Col. John P. Sweeney and Rev. Fr. Fleming.

Mayor Leonard, Col. Sweeney, Fr. Fleming, City Clerk C. J. Corcoran and City Auditor R. J. Shea took seats on the stage and the aldermen and councilmen seated themselves in the chairs placed directly in the front of the hall.

There were about 500 spectators in the hall when at 10.15 a. m., Fr. Fleming offered prayer. The minutes were then read and the official election returns. Then the oath of office was administered to Mayor Leonard by Col. Sweeney, who also administered the oath to the aldermen and then to the councilmen.

Mayor Leonard then read his inaugural address, which will be found in full below.

The most conspicuous feature of the exercises was the utter lack of enthusiasm on the part of the spectators. Mayor Leonard was received in silence when he stepped to the front of the stage to deliver his inaugural and there was no applause during nor after the address.

The aldermen and councilmen then repaired to their respective chambers.

COMMITTEES.

The organization of the committees for 1902 was effected Tuesday evening.

The meeting was held in the old high school building. All the members present. Mayor James F. Leonard presided and called the meeting to order.

The secretary was instructed to cast one vote for Hon. John Breen as vice chairman.

The committee also recommended that the care of the Park street school be transferred from the ward three committee to the ward two committee. The report was accepted and adopted. Adjournment followed this action.

DRUGGISTS.

For a Wider Bridge.

A hearing was held in the common council chamber Tuesday by the county commissioners in regard to the widening of the South Union street bridge over the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad. The full board of commissioners was present.

The petition was read by City Solicitor John P. Kane. The first witness was City Engineer A. D. Marble. He testified: The street as laid out by the commissioners in 1854 is 66 feet. The roadway of the bridge is 32 feet wide in the clear. The clear width between the bridge and abutments is 28 feet. Union street is a main thoroughfare and there is much travel over it.

Asked by Commissioner Bishop if he had made any estimate of the cost of widening, Mr. Marble said he had not. He said that the distance from the top of the bridge to the foot of the north slope was 310 feet.

Asked how wide the Duck bridge is, Mr. Marble said that it is 50 feet in the clear, with a 30 foot road way. Mr. Marble said that it is customary to make a short bridge as wide as the street.

Charles A. DeCourcy announced at this point that he represented the Boston & Maine railroad, but was not present to oppose the petition, but merely to find out what it is proposed to do.

Alderman Harry B. Lane testified that there is much congestion of traffic at the bridge and he said he considered there was great danger at times in consequence of the narrowness of the road way.

Councilman Andrew C. Campbell said he frequently passes over the bridge, that while riding a bicycle he has been knocked off and at that and many other times he has been forced to dismount. He considered the bridge a menace to public safety.

Ex-Alderman W. H. Forbes said he had had a narrow escape on the bridge. His horse shied onto the sidewalk, which is not properly guarded, and came near knocking down some women. He said the narrowness hampered the department as well as the public. He thought the city deserved a modern bridge.

County commissioner Bishop asked if it would not suffice to build sidewalks outside the bridge. Mr. Forbes said he was opposed to patching up the bridge.

W. T. McAlpine said that he believed a modern bridge is a necessity.

Lawyer W. J. Bradley spoke at length protesting strongly against the present condition of the bridge. He declared that the sentiment in South Lawrence is unanimous in favor of a wider and better bridge, as it is certainly not a proper approach to the city of Lawrence. He said he had no suggestions to make as to how to remedy the trouble, but he felt that the roadway should be widened and better sidewalk accommodations.

When asked by Mr. Bishop to estimate the number of people who use the bridge, Mr. Bradley said he thought he was safe in saying the number was 3000.

Mayor Leonard said that the petition was made because the people feel the need of the widening of the bridge. He said he would be glad to hear from the Boston & Maine railroad.

Lawyer DeCourcy said that the railroad is not opposing the petition, as the widening would not affect it. "If the bridge is to be widened," he said, "the railroad would like to have the bridge lengthened as well, so that additional track accommodations can be obtained."

Chairman Bishop said that if the commissioners decided that public necessity and convenience require a wider bridge, the board will report to the railroad commissioners and to the court which will decide what proportion the city, the railroad and the county will have to pay.

It was finally voted to adjourn the hearing until Feb. 18 at 9.30 a. m. City Engineer Marble and the Boston & Maine engineers will meanwhile draw plans of changes desired.

WILL FIGHT IT.

It is announced that Col. John P. Sweeney has been engaged to act as counsel for John D. Mutch, who shot James Oakes in Haverhill early in December and who is now in the local jail awaiting the action of the grand jury. Col. Sweeney will be associated with Rufus P. Tapley.

EXCITEMENT

If your nerves are beyond control Dr. Greene's Nervura is the help you need.

My nerves were in a frightful state, and I was very weak. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me no good. One day a friend called me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I did so, and after taking this wonderful medicine for a short time I was in perfect health. I think Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is splendid, and would advise everybody to try it.

Get help where your trouble is understood. Dr. Greene is a specialist in nervous troubles. His Nervura is his sovereign cure. Try to believe this, for it will save you from misery. Write to this doctor or call for free counsel at 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass. Don't wait. Write to-day.

with Rufus P. Tapley of Haverhill, who represented Mutch at the preliminary hearing.

It is said that Mutch will plead not guilty to any indictment which the grand jury may find against him and that a vigorous fight in his defense will be made.

It will be remembered that Mutch accused Oakes of undue familiarity with Mrs. Mutch and that the shooting of Oakes took place as he and Mrs. Mutch were leaving a restaurant together.

The trial will probably be held at the local superior court house a few weeks after the grand jury returns its findings.

Under the circumstances there is little doubt but that Mutch will be charged with murder. His counsel will of course not divulge the nature of the defense, which will be offered, until the trial.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10, 1902

One of the most interesting hodgepodes that has been straightened out by the revised state laws, which went into effect January 1, was that furnished by the conflicting statutes relating to the office of superintendent of streets. It has always been understood that the superintendent of streets of Andover, who has been elected by the citizens at the annual town meeting each year for the past five years, was an official answerable to no one save the citizens. Complaints to the selectmen have been useless, for they understood that they had no control of his actions.

But during the past summer there had arisen a situation which caused the selectmen to investigate, and the information gleaned from such investigation has been very entertaining. The fact seems to be that in all the years since 1898, the superintendent of streets has been just as much under the direction of the selectmen as he was before the law was enacted in 1895, and when he was appointed. Now the revised laws, enacted during the last adjourned session of the legislature, step in and make another change, and henceforth the position of the superintendent of streets in Andover will be that of one having sole power regarding repairs, but under the direction of the selectmen of the town as to permanent road building, such as macadamized roads and concrete sidewalks.

There will be a great many citizens who will agree that such divided responsibility is of very doubtful wisdom, but the ways of Massachusetts law making are often beyond understanding. There may be some alternative that will be a better arrangement, but such does not appear to be the case. If not, the town of Andover will elect a superintendent of streets next March whose principal labor bids fair to be the task of determining how far he is his own master.

Naming the Streets.

The selectmen have begun a big job and a good one in naming the streets of the town—every one of them. They wish it to be clearly understood that the list as published in today's Townsman is only preliminary and that criticism and suggestions regarding new names are invited on their part from all interested parties. This criticism must be made at an early date as the selectmen desire that the list which they shall submit in their annual report, may be as nearly right as possible. While the undoubted principal purpose is to obviate any further opportunity for criticizing the assessors' list, no one will deny that it will be an excellent idea to have everybody in town live somewhere.

When the streets are all named let the finishing touch be put upon the work in the shape of clear, substantial signs to locate every one of them.

Editorial Cinders.

We doubt if a hundred persons in Andover really appreciate how dilapidated and inconvenient the Andover Town house is. There is today not a department of the town government, that has quarters convenient and suitable for the business to be done, and the members of the committee to whose hands has been intrusted the work of improvements in building, are rapidly becoming impressed with the belief that this work is one of the most important undertakings for the town to consider at its coming annual meeting.

The report of the Andover Savings Bank is of interest to nearly all Andover, and is particularly so this year when it first passes in its standing the $3,000,000 mark. A long term of good management has made the record a proud one and is a matter of congratulations not only to the bank, but to the town which numbers it among its most important institutions.

There is new blood at Phillips on every hand, but from our news-story elsewhere some of the most interesting, must be in the splendid, high grade, full blooded Jerseys, which are apparently clear "in the purple." At this rate the farm will soon take rank with the school, as one of the Nation's best.

W. M. Fullerton, who succeeds one of the world's great journalists as Paris correspondent of the London Times, is well remembered by many Andover citizens. The promise of youth is being abundantly fulfilled in his case, bringing great fame to himself, and new honor to his early training school.

Graduate of Andover.

It is reported that the foremost newspaper writer in Europe, Henri de Blowitz, the Paris correspondent of the London Times has retired from his work and is succeeded by William Morton Fullerton who graduated from Phillips in 1882. Mr. Fullerton was much interested in writing and speaking and won the first prize in the Draper contest and the third prize in the Means competition. From Andover he went to Harvard and gained honors in English literature and composition in the class of 1886.

For a time he was literary editor of the Boston Daily Advertiser, then travelled through Egypt and the Greek Islands, writing for an English magazine. In 1891 he became an assistant to M. de Blowitz at Paris and has won a conspicuous place among the social and literary writers of that capital.

Mr. Fullerton's father, Rev. B. M. Fullerton, graduated from Phillips in 1857, and his sister secured the Century prize for a story which that magazine published in the number for January, 1902.

Mr. Fullerton's salary is $10,000 a year, and he is at liberty to give dinners and banquets at the expense of the Times.

Abbott Academy Club.

A meeting of the Abbott academy club was held in the Vendome, Boston, last Saturday afternoon, with about 50 ladies present.

Mrs. Arthur W. Blair presided. Miss Laura E. Hovey read a paper on the "Modern Philistines," among whom she mentioned Tolstol, Ibsen, Zola, Ruskin and William S. Norris.

The contralto singer, Miss Geraldine Damon, sang a group of songs in a most pleasing manner.

At the conclusion of the program, tea was served, the ladies presiding at the tables being Mrs. W. S. Bean, Mrs. Henry B. Conant, Mrs. Sheldon, W. Tyler and Mrs. Ernest L. Carr.

ABBOTT VILLAGE

Good progress is being made in the construction of the drying shed on Mingle street.

The small boy, yes, and girl too, delights to slide on the sidewalk in Abbott Village from the depot to the bottom of the hill and consequently the life and limb of the pedestrian is not safe for a moment unless he takes the middle of the street. Even should he navigate safely by the flying sleds and double hitches, he is liable to come to grief on the walk which they wear as smooth as glass, and as slippery. Naturally a difficult hill to climb even under favorable circumstances, under conditions such as within the past few days, it has been doubly trying and hazardous.

WEST PARISH

The annual meeting of the Ladies' club of the Grange was held in Grange hall last evening. The club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bailey.

Burns Anniversary.

Those who attend the Burns anniversary on Jan. 24, are assured of listening to as good a concert as Andover has heard for some time.

The committee has spared no expense in securing talent and will prolong the dancing until 1 a.m., so that there will be no reason to hasten the literary part of the program. Among those already booked is Miss Katherine White, soloist, of Lawrence, whom a host of Andover friends will be gratified to hear. Others will be James Ewart, who is too well known to need praising, Miss Jeanette Cutbill, who won so much favor last year, Miss Emily Topham, reader, and as many more equally as good.

The address on "Bobbie" is in the hands of Editor John N. Cole, and that is sufficient to assure the audience that it will be neither dry nor too lengthy.

Thomes' orchestra, seven pieces, will furnish music for dancing, and if you miss Burns' this year you will miss a treat. The program in full will be published next week.

Girls and Boys Did Well.

The Junior Christian Endeavorers of the Baptist church presented a series of amusing tableaux to their parents and friends at the church vestry last evening.

The affair was given for the purpose of raising money for the church and was under the direction of the special entertainment committee of the C. E. society. Much credit is due to the girls and boys for the success of the entertainment.

The first number on the program was a reading entitled "A Friend in Need," by Alice Barker, and was amusingly illustrated. Then followed a song, "If All the World Were Paper," by a chorus of girls and boys. Tableaux, as answers to riddles read by Miss Barker, came next, as follows: "Stockings," Lucetta Lowe; "Pockets," Gile Johnson; "Bottle," Harold Morse, Warren Bailey, Lindsay Ralph; "Teeth," Floyd Eastman, Edith Johnson. Then came a duet "Old Father William," by Pearl Ralph and Edith Johnson. Three riddles followed: "Skip-rope," Pearl Ralph, Edith Johnson, Alice Barker; "Coal," Lena Lundgren; "Wheelbarrow," Blanchard Ralph, Lizzie Johnson. Here a chorus of singers and whistlers rendered "O, Yankee Doodle is a Tune," and the riddles were resumed as follows: "Stiffs," John Bayley; "Candy," Lucetta Lowe and John Brown; "Mirror," Lena Lundgren; "Rusky Wilows," Pauline Wood; "Pop-corn," several small children; "Marbles," Blanchard Ralph, Rochous Gilbert, Floyd Eastman; "There Was a Little Man," was sung by the chorus, and more riddles followed: "Book," Gladys Bailey and Lindsay Ralph; "Valentines," several girls and boys; "Bow and Arrow," John Brown; "Egg," Gussie Lundgren; "Bedstead," Gladys Bailey; "Saw," Henry Lundgren; "Lamb," Lucetta Lowe, Gile Johnson, Pauline Wood; "Doll," Gladys Bailey. A chorus of boys whistled patriotic airs, and a tableau, "Good-night," closed the entertainment.

Address on Glaciers.

Edwin T. Brewster delivered a most interesting and instructive illustrated lecture on "Glaciers" before the Young Men's club of the Free church last Monday evening. Mr. Brewster spoke of the formation of glaciers and told how their movements might be traced. About 30 views were thrown upon the screen by means of the stereopticon, showing hills and valleys and so forth, the results of glaciers in New England. At the next meeting of the club there will be a debate. During the latter part of the month Prof. LeRoy, a sleight of hand artist, from Boston, is expected to be present to entertain the club. The subject of the debate will be: "Shall England and America Form An Alliance?" The negative will be supported by Roy Lindsay and Dana Clark, the affirmative by Howard Bell and John Kydd.

FRYE VILLAGE.

Mrs. George L. Barnham entertained the Thursday afternoon whist club of Lawrence and Andover at her residence on Alimhouse street yesterday afternoon. The club is composed of twelve ladies, the majority of them from Lawrence. A splendid time was enjoyed by the club yesterday. The first prize was won by Mrs. F. G. Valpey of Lawrence, and the second by Mrs. Swift, also of Lawrence.

The annual meeting of the Indian Ridge association will be held in the lower Town hall, Thursday evening, Jan. 16, 1902, at half past seven o'clock.

GIVES SATISFACTION

New Heating System at the Seminary Has Proved an Unqualified Success.

Down under the Chapel church of the Theological Seminary on the Hill, may be found one of the most elaborate and well constructed heating systems in the town and one which took the greater part of the summer and a portion of the fall to install. Now that it has been given a thorough trial it is entirely in place to say that it has proved itself to be an unqualified success in every particular.

When one stops to think what the system has to do, it is almost a miracle that it performs its work so successfully. Not only does it heat the Seminary Chapel church, but it also carries warmth to the various halls of the Seminary—Phillips, the Chapel and Bartlett—Brecht hall (the library of the Seminary) and to the new gymnasium of Phillips academy, the latter building 1700 feet from the source of the heat. All this heat is carried by means of underground pipes, which naturally have to be well protected to keep the heat from wasting seriously on its way to perform its mission.

The protection of the pipes consists of tile pipes which were first split in halves, laid at a sufficient distance below the surface of the ground, the depths varying from three or four to a dozen feet, thus insuring protection against frost and preserving the proper pitch for the exhaust steam which must be returned eventually to the boilers as water, to be re-used. When the steam pipes were laid in the tile pipe, packing was put in the joints sealed up, and the pipe covered over.

But it is down in the basement of the Chapel church that the interest of the visitor centres, for here is the source of the supply and all those appliances and ingenious contrivances which have united to make the system such a splendid piece of mechanism.

Perhaps the first thing to attract the attention of the visitor is the absence of all that gloominess which often encompasses the ordinary boiler room. Such is far from being the case here; on the contrary, the rooms beneath the Chapel church, where the heating apparatus is located and coal is stored, are light, roomy and airy. The space for the disposal of the coal is ample and 250 tons were put this year through the bulkhead outside the church, which in itself accommodates about 40 tons. In the larger of the two rooms below stairs, are found the shafts which carry the cold air and heat to ventilate and heat the auditorium above. The heating is accomplished by means of Bundy indirect radiators which are situated below the door. The steam is passed into the coils of piping and around it passes the air freed from out of doors, which then ascends into the church by means of registers. By the use of drafts and dampers the air is heated and re-heated, and through an air shaft outside the 70-foot steel flue in the tower, the impure air is carried away.

There are two big boilers of nearly 80 horse power each, made by Cunningham, South Boston, and installed by McCardle of Boston, which furnish all the heat required for the various buildings, and unless the weather is unusually severe, one boiler only is used. Both boilers take up considerable space but they are bricked up handsomely and covered with asbestos, a fine job in this particular having been done by H. W. Johns Mfg. Co., of New York. Other parts of the machinery and piping have been covered with the asbestos to confine the heat. All the sheet iron work, and there is a lot of it, was excellently done by William H. Welch & Co. of this place. The boilers and other heating adjuncts are all nicely painted and kept in spick and span condition.

While there is a distance of 1700 feet between the Chapel church and the new gym., there is only an average loss of about three pounds steam pressure in the distance. At the Seminary buildings the loss is not appreciable. Throughout all the buildings an even temperature of about 70 degrees is kept. This is made possible by a Waters reducing valve in each of the buildings, which is capable of being regulated to the required pressure, and once regulated, will keep the heat at the desired temperature without watching.

Another queer little contrivance is located in a glass case near the boiler, and is a pretty piece of mechanism to look at with its highly polished copper works. This little machine governs the damper in the funnel and when there is too much draft the steam closes the damper, and when necessary, automatically opens it again. It is called a Mason damper regulator.

Then there is a little engine with shining rods, which seems to have a mind of its own, out back of the boilers. Warren automatic steam pump is his name. He is connected with a boiler and, when it becomes necessary to run, he runs, and when he is not required, he stands still. His function is to take care of the exhaust steam which gets back to him by means of the main return pipe or through secondary pipes from the various traps which collect the exhaust on its way out. The traps work automatically, also, and are called Nason traps. The temperature of the return water, after passing through the Warren pump is about 200 degrees and this steam may be directed straight up into the Bundy radiators in the church or passed into the

If all frames were alike it would not matter where you had them made. But they are not all alike. There is as much difference as there is in the people that order them. Our frames are not only low in price, but they are artistic in make-up and give proper effect to the picture. It wouldn't be a bad idea to give us a chance to show you how "different" ours are from the other fellows.

boiler. There is also an arrangement whereby the oil is collected and saved for further use, besides other and useful contrivances in connection with the system which spell saving.

Gas is used to light the basement when required, although in day time it is not usually necessary that it be lighted. The boilers are fitted with improved racking grates, which render the work of caring for the fires easier.

Mr. West, who has been in charge, will leave tomorrow evening to accept a position with the American Woolen company at one of their mills in Dover, N. H. His place will be taken by Mr. Woods of Lawrence, formerly in charge of the boilers at the old high school in that city.

The engineer in charge of installing this excellent system was R. D. Kimball of Boston, and right well did he do his work.

Civil Service Examination.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission will hold examinations at several places in each state during March and April, to secure young men and women for the government service. 9,889 persons secured positions last year through these examinations. Probably 10,000 appointments will be made this year. All appointments are for life and for most positions only a common school education is required. Salaries at appointment vary from $960 to $1200 a year with liberal promotions afterward. Politics is not considered. This affords a good opportunity for people between 16 and 45 years of age. Those desiring places of this kind can get full information about them, free, by writing to the Columbian Correspondence College, Washington, D. C., and asking for its Civil Service catalogue, number three.

HANDSOME CATTLE

Blooded Jerseys from Hood Farm Added to the Already Splendid Stock at the P. A. Farm

A small item appeared in the Townsman a few weeks ago mentioning the purchase of several registered Jersey cows by the P. A. Farm from the Hood Farm, which is noted for its high grade of cattle. Such a brief item was not sufficient for such a noteworthy purchase but it was all that could be obtained at the time. Since then, however, a visit to the Phillips academy farm and an inspection of the cattle and premises puts the correspondent in a position to speak more explicitly in regard to the Jerseys and other cows at the farm.

If a cow may be spoken of as looking sleek and contented it should be thus that the beautiful animals at the P. A. farm, standing or lying in two rows facing the centre of a delightfully fresh and clean barn with hardly a trace of "cowy smell," should be mentioned. On one side are the "graded" animals, i. e., mixed grades, while on the other side are the valuable registered stock, some of them with a long pedigree and blessed with names which should make them worth while if for nothing else. There are three Brown Bessies of different numbers and their color, that beautiful seal brown of varying shades, explains their names. Then Marjory of Middlebrook and Lorella of Blackworth put one in mind of English pastures green and meadows with clumps of trees and shaded pools and in the distance the towers of some old keep, while in mental review, gayly attired galleons and fair maidens ride by on their way to the chase or the tourney.

Brown Bessie's Son is a handsome, short-horned, Jersey bull, clever and sensible. Others of the Jerseys in this row are Hood Farm Louisa, who gave 5000 lbs. of milk last year, Rose, who is giving 22 quarts of milk a day, King's Poglass and Chronos 18th of H. F. They took so clean and wholesome, everyone of them, their heads are so beautifully formed, their eyes so intelligent, their horns so highly polished and colored in beautiful shades, their ears so silky inside, that it is a pleasure to stand and look at them as they contentedly gaze at you and chew their cud.

Down stairs are the heifers, shaggy little fellows, but good stock. Mr. Sawyer, treasurer of the academy, purchased the new Jerseys, whose milk is sold by P. A. Swanton. Mr. Sawyer's father has a large farm at Dover, N. H., so that of course he recognizes and likes the best stock, as may be seen by looking over his purchases.

All the milk at the academy, about 125 quarts a day, is weighed and the record of each cow kept. Altogether, the cattle here are as fine as one would wish to see anywhere, while the system and the care taken of the premises would put even the New England housewife to shame. Each cow is fed according to weight, and little partitions prevent any one animal from getting more than belongs to her.

Some handsome porkers are kept a little to one side of the main barn and receive their share of the attention devoted to all the animals at the farm. Visitors are always welcome and will be shown over the barn by the custodian.

Lucky Escape.

Ernest Graves of Summer street, Lawrence, an employee of the H. A. Buell & Co.'s grocery establishment, is just recovering from an accident in which he narrowly escaped serious injury while delivering groceries on Andover hill a few days ago. The two horse delivery wagon, well filled with goods of which he was in charge, was proceeding up the hill when a cumbersome two-horse hitch bolted and continued down the hill at a terrific pace.

When near the grocery outfit the rear of the runaway team slued and crashed into the forward part of the latter, crushing everything before it. The wheels, step and other portions of the wagon were destroyed and Mr. Graves was thrown violently down, being considerably bruised and having one shoulder dislocated. The horses of the grocery wagon started to run but were soon stopped. Mr. Graves returned immediately to his home. He will be able to be out of doors in a day or two.

HOCKEY

Melrose, 8; Andover, 0.

The Melrose High School hockey team defeated the Andover team on Eli pond, Melrose, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 8 to 0. Although all the points were made by the home team, the game was the hottest seen in Melrose this season, and from start to finish both sides played a fast game. It was only by superior playing at critical times that Melrose won the game. The ice was in very good condition, and although the weather was very cold, about 800 watched the game from the side lines. The best playing was done for Melrose by Scanlan, Whitman, Whalen and Berge. For Andover the best playing was done by Nolan, Lynch, Stewart, Hitchcock and Whitnev. The line-up:

BROUGHT GOOD FORTUNE

A small item in his own paper lately brought amazing good fortune to Editor Chris Reiter, of the Saginaw (Mich) Post and Zeitung. He and his family had the Grip in its worst form. Their doctor did them no good. Then he read that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds was a guaranteed cure for La Grippe and all Throat and Lung troubles: tried it and says: "Three bottles cured the whole family. No other medicine on earth equals it." Only 50c and $1.00 at Bliss's drug store. Trial bottles free.

MADE MERRY.

A fine show and a very enjoyable one was the general opinion of the large audience which, Wednesday night witnessed the minstrel production given at the Opera house by the Imperial Banjo and Glee club. In point of attendance the show was a decided success for nearly every seat in the house was taken; and in point of merit, the show was one of the finest amateur productions ever presented in this city.

Schooner Lizzie M. Stanley of Gloucester arrived at her port Saturday night having on board the shipwrecked crew of the Eva L. Ferrie.

Were it not for the prompt action of his father, Benjamin Moran of Haverhill would probably have been drowned Sunday at Round pond, where he was skating.

Dwight A. Goodwin, janitor of the Newburyport Bicycle club rooms, was found dead in the rooms Monday morning. Death was due to natural causes.

The milk war is still on at Salem with no settlement in sight yet awhile. Daigneau is selling at retail; he runs 10 teams Monday and sold milk at 5 cents a quart.

The war of the milkmen is on in earnest in Salem. J. Daigneau has cut the price and will fight to a finish. The milkmen's association is against him but he cares not.

Bribery has been charged down in Salem. The mayor claims that Alderman Hathaway was approached with money to vote against E. H. Knight for city marshal.

Henri R. Watson was elected chairman, and Allen B. Stevens secretary of the Haverhill Republican city committee Friday evening. The committee expended $486.06 in its municipal campaign.

The Lynn Republican city committee finished the state campaign $115.40 in debt, having expended $588.40. In the city election, the committee finished off with a balance of $26.46, having expended $713.04.

Arthur E. Bryer, a Lynn contractor, was thrown from his team in South Boston Tuesday, and dragged along through the road. After becoming insensible, he became untried and the wagon passed over him. He was badly injured.

The meeting of the Haverhill city government was peculiar from the fact that the contests for city offices were hard fought and long drawn out. S. W. George defeated Assessor Fitzgerald, who ran up for re-election, and Dr. C. B. Frothingham was elected city physician after 30 ballots, defeating the present incumbent, Dr. Donahue.

The full bench of the supreme court has overruled the defendant's exceptions in the personal injury case of Andrew Kleibaz of Salem vs. the Middleton Paper company. The plaintiff holds a verdict of $14,000, though the jury gave him $20,000, but it was reduced by Judge Maynard after the trial. The man was injured while operating an elevator in the Middleton Paper mill by its defective condition.

Nathaniel T. Edwards, 60 Endicott street, Salem, who left home last Tuesday, without telling his family he had any intention of going away, returned Saturday, in usual health, and much amused at the alarm created by his absence. Harry Coburn of Lynnfield is at the Union hospital, Lynn, near to death from exposure and a broken leg. He was on his way home Saturday night and slipped and broke the left knee-cap. For over two hours he lay beside the road screaming for help. Then he dragged himself along the road toward a camp a half mile, but he swooned and was found five hours after the accident by a fishing party and taken to the hospital in Lynn. Ralph Berry, the 18-year-old son of George C. Berry, a Beverly druggist, was struck and fatally injured at the Eliot street crossing of the Gloucester branch of the Boston & Maine road by the train which left Beverly for Gloucester at 8.54 yesterday morning.

How he happened to be on the track is not known, but the young man had been in poor health for some time, due to over study, and it is surmised that he might have wandered upon the crossing in an absent-minded way, and did not see the approaching train until too late. He was picked up by the driver of the American express wagon, which was near by at that time, and was brought in that wagon to the hospital, where he died soon after his arrival.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Pendergast, merchant, Annapolis Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly ward off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by all druggists.
